BY JOHN PALMER.

Plough deep to find the gold my boys! Plough deep to find the gold! The earth hath treasures in her breast Unmeasured and untold.

Clothe the mountain tops with trees, The sides with waving grain! Why bring o'er stormy seas What here we may obtain?

O, Britain need not bring her bread From countries new or old, Would she but give the plowshare speed, And Darrn to find the gold!

Earth is grateful to her sons For all their care and toil: Nothing yields such large returns As drained and deepened soil .

Science, lend thy kindly aid, Her riches to unfold: Moved by plow or moved by spade Stir deep to find the gold!

Dig deep to find the gold my boys! Dig deep to find the gold! he earth has treasures in her breast Unmeasured and untold.

Fortune often makes a feast, and then takes away the appetite.

He who says there is no such thing as an honest man, you may be sure is a T. S. HENING, PROPRIETOR.

25 He is happier who has little, and with that little is content, than he who has much, with impatience for more.

With love, the heart becomes a fair and fertile garden, glowing with sunshine and warm hues, and exaling sweet odors.

Inviolable fidelity, good humor and complacency of temper, will outlive all the Orders from physicians, country merchants and charms of a fine face, and make the decays others proportly attended to. of it invisible.

Every heart has its secret sorrow, which the world knows not: and oftentimes we call a man cold, when he is only sad. Old men are fond of giving good advice, to console themselves for being no longer in a position to give bad examples. True merit often finds its gold not distinguished from base metal. Religion is said to be the true basis pedestal of his pride. informed of her affairs and interests.

Wild Cherry tree bark of this climate possessed valuable medicinal qualities. Indeed this fact was known to the aborigines, and decocious of the leaves or bark of this tree has ever been regarded by their physicians as one of the most ef-ectual remedies in many diseases. This fact, several years since, arrested the attention of Dr. Wistar, a highly respectable practitioner of Virginia. He investigated with care the healing properties of the Wild Cherry-tested its effects when administered alone and when in combination with other remedial agents. He found that its natural virtue might be greatly improved, and by combining it with ingredients whose proper iles were all well proved and generally tecog nized, a medicine was produced which consti-
